

Figure 2 Comparison of charcoal abundance in the top and second samples from cores collected from upwind (unburned), burned and downwind (unburned) sites.

Gardner, J.J. and Whitlock, C. (2001). Charcoal accumulation following a recent fire in the Cascade Range, northwestern USA, and its relevance for fire-history studies. Holocene 11(5): 541-549.