Course description: This course looks at Europe’s basic physical and human patterns/landscapes from a geographical perspective, focusing on how those patterns/landscapes came into being and how they have shaped Europe and the wider world over time. The course looks at regional variations in Europe through a problem-oriented approach—focusing not just on ‘where’ questions, but considering ‘why there’ and ‘so what.’ Particular attention is devoted to the character of the physical and human-created landscape, cultural variations and their implications, settlement patterns, political divisions, and economic patterns and processes.

Course Requirements and Grading: Three exercises (each worth 15% of the course grade), a place name quiz (worth 5% of the course grade), two midterms (worth 20% of the course grade), and participation in discussion sections (worth 10% of the course grade). All exercises must be turned in and all exams must be taken in order to pass the course. Regular class attendance and the completion of readings before the lecture to which they are assigned are expected. Please note that assignments must be turned in on time. Since you have ample warning of due dates, penalties will be assessed for late exercises unless the circumstances are exceptional. To ensure a level playing field for everyone, there will be no possibilities for extra-credit work. Instead, everyone’s grades will be based on the items enumerated above.

Learning Environment: Everyone should respect the class as a place for learning. Showing respect for your peers is absolutely essential to a good group learning process. That means tolerance of differing opinions, listening as well as talking, and refraining from personal attacks. Violations of academic integrity, such as plagiarism and cheating, are unacceptable (see http://libweb.uoregon.edu/guides/plagiarism/students/). Suspected violations will be reported to the Director of Student Judicial Affairs. If that office finds the student to be guilty of a violation, it may result in a failing grade for the course. Electronic devices such as smart phones and pagers must be turned off during class. Research shows that most students learn better by taking handwritten notes rather than typing on a laptop. If you nonetheless decide to use a laptop, you must sit in the first two rows of the classroom and use your computer only for note taking. Violation of this policy will result in the loss of points that count toward the final grade in the class.
