This course explores:
- How geographical concepts such as place, territory, culture, and identity influence and are influenced by world affairs;
- The tensions and opportunities that unite and divide people from different places;
- How to utilize a case study approach that investigates how and why cultural change occurs at global and local scales.